

Ideas don't simply come and go:  $\infty$

$\infty$  they expand infinitely until interrupted

A Fractal thinker

is a person who has expansively hyper-aware internal moments which appear inattentive to others.

They process external variables using intricate variations of possible outcomes and examine the interrelationships between prior understandings.

© 2015